DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 3-4 and 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action: The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-2,5 and 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Grawey (5,148,077) in view of Berlincourt (4051396). Grawey discloses in fig.1 and 2 a piezoelectric actuator injector comprising: a metal case (104) provide on the outside of the side surface of the piezoelectric device(102), an insulating member(224) place between the piezoelectric device and the case. Wherein, the insulating member is made of a piece separated from the piezoelectric device and the insulating member is adhered to the inner wall of the case. Grawey do not show the insulating member made of resin. Berlincourt disclose a piezoelectric device in fig.4 comprising: insulation (58) made of resin encapsulating the piezoelectric element (51) for the purpose of preventing dielectric breakdown across the piezoelectric means. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the arts the time the invention was made to modify the piezoelectric device of Grawey with the insulating resin of Berlincourt for the purpose of preventing internal leakage.

Referring to claim 1, the recitation that " a laminated piezoelectric device having alternately layered piezoelectric layers and electrode layers" bhas not been give patentable weight because it has been held that a preamble is denied the effect of a limitation where the claim is drawn to a structure and the portion following the preamble is self- contained description of the structure not depending for completeness upon the introductory clause. Kropa v. Robie, 88 USPQ 478(CCPA 1951).

Reffering to claim 7, It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to select the insulating member thickness to be no more than 0.3mm, since it has been held that where general condition of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only rountine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.
